

Service Care For: Bond
Calhoun
Clay
Clinton
Effingham

After Mom's stroke I didn't know who to turn to for help. She wanted to stay in her own home, but I just didn't know how she could manage on her own anymore. The Senior Advocacy Care Team and the transitional care program planning process provided solutions for all the care she needed: nursing, therapy, and even a home health aide. I stopped worrying and the end result is wonderful. My Mother is so happy and safe.

SENIOR CARE ADVOCACY REDEFINING THE ART OF CARING

Redefining the art of caring starts with our Senior Advocacy mission. It's why we are America's home care leader. A clinical team looks beyond the obvious to help you realize your fullest potential. Simply put, we are your advocate. It's our mission to support your physical and emotional well-being; to provide excellent care, support, and education to you and your family; and to help you retain your independence wherever you call home. If you are faced with a new diagnosis, recent surgery, short-term condition, or are suffering with the challenges of a long-term illness, we can help.

Whether you need short- or long-term care, we can provide assistance. We work in conjunction with your physician to develop a plan of treatment that covers:

- ◆ Recovery
- ◆ Rehabilitation
- ◆ Disease Management
- ◆ Care Management: Coordination of complex medical issues.

➤ Skilled Nursing – Registered Nurse

- New medication or dosage change - taking three or more prescription medications a day
- Suffering from diabetes, heart failure, or respiratory conditions
- Signs of depression, forgetfulness, dementia
- Difficulty walking, bathing, or grooming
- Changes in appetite or weight loss
- Swelling in feet and ankles with weight gain
- Concerns of safety for medical reasons

Is HOME CARE THE ANSWER?

As people age, changes in their abilities are often gradual and subtle. A new diagnosis, recent hospitalization, surgery, or illness may require skilled care at home to help promote recovery and regain independence. It can be difficult for families and care providers to know when a loved one may need help with their daily activities. This simple checklist may help you or someone you care about determine if you may benefit from our services:

- Recent falls or a fear of falling – feeling unsteady, dizzy, or weak
- Recent hospitalization or surgery
- New medication or dosage change - taking three or more prescription medications a day
- Suffering from diabetes, heart failure, or respiratory conditions
- Signs of depression, forgetfulness, dementia
- Difficulty walking, bathing, or grooming
- Changes in appetite or weight loss
- Swelling in feet and ankles with weight gain
- Concerns of safety for medical reasons
